Mayor recommends, Council ok's Ginn for Bay School Board post

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Bay St. Louis Council was unanimous in naming James Ginn, Hancock Bank vice-president, to the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board. Ginn, recommended by Mayor Larry Bennett, replaces Robert Hamilton who held the position 20 years. Council was also unanimous in appointing Nelius C. Rhodes Sr. to fill the unexpired term of Mrs. Virginia Wagner on the Parks and Playgrounds Commission. Mrs. Wagner submitted her resignation recently to the Council because of personal conflicts. "This has taken me quite a bit of time and I would like to thank everyone who submitted names to be considered for the position of school board member," Bennett reported before naming Ginn. Council chambers overflowed with a crowd of spectators who expressed their pleasure with a big applause on the naming of Ginn. Ginn and his wife, Jacquelyn reside on Dunbar Avenue. They have one son, James Jr., a student at North Bay Elementary, and one daughter, Mrs. Douglas Alford of Bay St. Louis. Ginn has been employed at Hancock Bank for 18 years. He attended Bay High, Pearl River Junior College, Delta State and is a graduate of Louisiana

State School of Banking. He is a member of the board of directors of the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce; past president of Bay St. Louis Jaycees; past president and campaign chairman of the Hancock County United Way; past president of the Hancock County Heart Fund and was twice president of the Bay High Booster Club. He is a deacon of the First Assembly of God, Waveland. "I am sincerely interested in the education of the children of Hancock County, and I am honored and proud to accept this appointment to the Bay School Board," Ginn said Wednesday. Rhodes appointment was also applauded. Bennett reported Rhodes has been "very much interested in the youth of our community" before recommending him as Parks and Playgrounds Commission member. A former justice of the peace, (Justice Court judge) Rhodes served 24 years in Hancock County. He and his wife Mat reside on Main Street in Bay St. Louis and have two sons, Nelius Jr., Jackson, a state highway patrolman, and Joseph (Doc) Rhodes, Gulfport. They have one daughter Mrs. Oren Lush of Bay St. Louis. The Rhodes have eight grandchildren. For 12 years Rhodes was Youth Court referee.

Police recover missing items, two charged

Television sets, tools, cameras, a pistol and other apparently stolen items were recovered recently by Bay Police following the search of a Bay St. Louis residence. Ricky Lemay, 21, and Clarence Taylor, 22, both of Bay St. Louis, were charged with possession of stolen property in connection with the case, reported police. Burglary charges are pending through the sheriff's office. Investigator David Sellier said a search warrant was issued Feb. 14 for Taylor's residence on Watts Street. "During the search," he continued, "we discovered the stolen items." Other recovered property included jewelry box and contents, a heavy-duty stapler, a skill saw and several batteries.

Bay Legion Post offers scholarships

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Two new scholarships will be offered by Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Post No. 139 this fall to Pearl River Junior College students. Edward (Eddie) Murtagh, Post scholarship chairman said one will be academic and the other v-tech in the amount of $500 each.

Murtagh reports that any graduating high school senior in Hancock County will be eligible to receive these scholarships with preference being given to sons and daughters of Post members.

The nominees will be selected by a committee from Pearl River Junior College.

Applications for the scholarship are available from Post commander Harold Saucier or Murtagh with a deadline of April 20, set for the 1979 Fall semester. The two winners will be announced at their high school graduation exercises.

PRJC is the second school to which Post No. 139 offers scholarships according to Murtagh.

A $500 scholarship is offered to the University of Southern Mississippi in the honor of former post member Richard H. Thames.

Saucier and Murtagh also have applications for the USM scholarship with deadline for applying set at May 1.

Zengarling seeks office of supervisor

H. (Bully) Zengarling has announced his candidacy for the District Four post on the Hancock County Board of Supervisors in the August 7 Democratic primary.

Zengarling served as supervisor of District Four, 1972 through 1975, but did not seek re-election due to family interests.

A native of the Bayou LaCrosse Community in Hancock County, his family was displaced by the Mississippi Test Facility.

Zengarling and his wife Mittie and youngest daughter Lisa reside on Citizen Street in Bay St. Louis.

His son Herbert Jr. is a New Orleans detective and two married daughters, Mrs. Joyce Lee and Mrs. Alice Laidner, reside in Bay St. Louis.

A fourth daughter Terri is deceased.

Classes resume at Bay High; fire damage survey underway

and
EDGAR PEREZ

Quick action by firemen contained a raging fire in the west wing of the Bay Senior High School complex Saturday. The fire completely destroyed the two biology classrooms and a storage room.

Heavy smoke damage was incurred throughout the wing.

The Bay St. Louis fire department received the call at 1:20 p.m. and two units responded.

Waveland, Pass Christian, Henderson Point, Diamondhead, East Hancock, Clermont Harbor, Bayside, Pearllington, NASA and Kiln also responded with men and equipment.

Traffic control in the fire area was handled by Bay St. Louis and Waveland police aided by the Hancock County Sheriff's department.

Several rescue units responded in addition to Mobile Medic.

When the first fire truck arrived at the high school, Coach Garry Griffin, who turned in the alarm, aided the firemen in giving a layout of the building.

Norman Cowart, State fire marshal, was called to investigate origin of the fire. He reported, "Upon investigation I found no physical evidence of arson. It appears to me that certain chemicals in the biology classes apparently exploded and set the room on fire."

At a Monday meeting, the school board authorized Fred Wagner, architect, to check extent of damages caused by the fire.

Wagner, when contacted late Tuesday said, "There appears to be extensive damages to the steel structure, especially over the biology classes and storeroom. A substantial amount of roofing and decking will have to be replaced."

Senior matching funds lacking after Federal policy changes

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Eve McDonald, Senior Citizens director, appeared before the Bay St. Louis Council Tuesday night, requesting an additional $1,200 in matching funds for operation of Senior Citizens activities in Hancock County.

Ms. McDonald said she had been to seminar and was told that the government would not accept rent free property in lieu of matching cash.

The City furnishes space for senior citizen activities in the Valena C. Jones complex.

A request for an additional $5,100 has been made to the Board of Supervisors and they are going to try and come up with the additional monies, Ms. McDonald said.

"We have to have money, if we are short we will have to cut programs. We are very fortunate to have CETA people and I do not know what we will do without them, because we have a tremendous amount of paper work for the government," Ms. McDonald said.

Council member Pete Benvenuti made a recommendation that Kelly McQueen, city clerk, be asked to search City funds and see if there wouldn't be a place they could transfer some funds to aid the senior citizen programs, with all members in agreement.

In other actions, Council was unanimous in accepting an amended garbage ordinance. The ordinance is also to be advertised. The ordinance outlines the types of collection: containers, number of container, hauling of garbage, trash and weed collections, and also the distribution of handbills, posters or circulars and the penalties for violations.

Mayor Larry Bennett presented a list of the Holiday schedule for the City employees which was accepted by the Council.

Council also authorized advertising for a new motor scooter for the meter man since the old one was totaled.

The mayor reported one City employee making below minimum wage was brought to his attention by the City Clerk and Council was unanimous in the raising of the salary.

Council was unanimous in the permanent appointment of Kelly McQueen as City Clerk. McQueen was serving on a temporary basis for six months, and Council was early in making the appointment permanent.

In closing, Mayor Bennett stated, "The people of Bay St. Louis should be aware of the amount of work done in Jackson by State Senator Martin Smith and Representative J. P. Compretta on the local and private tax bill to pay the Warner case if necessary."

The half-cent sales tax bill passed the House last week and Senator Smith said it would be going before the Senate very soon.

Bennett also requested another vote be taken on the City's request for the special bill as Council member Fred Wagner was absent at the last meeting according to the mayor. The vote was unanimous.

Capital library meeting draws three from Bay

The Hancock County delegation at a forthcoming Governor's Library Conference in Jackson Feb. 25-26 will include Ms. Fran Trombley, president of the City-County Library's board of trustees; Ms. Judy McCormick, Friends of The Library president; and Ms. Prima Wusnick, Hancock County librarian.

The conference is designed to develop and analyze views of citizens on library needs and goals.

The Hancock County delegation will file a report on the conference at a local Friends of The Library meeting in the Crawford Room of City-County Library, US-90, Bay St. Louis, Wednesday, March 7, at 7:30 p.m.

Friends of The Library has invited interested members of the public to attend the March 7 meeting.

Councilman Benvenuti also said thanks should be given to neighboring Representative Jim Simpson for his help on the floor on the House passage of the bill.

Joe Tate appeared before the Council in behalf of Ms. Mercedes Meggs presenting a deed to a piece of property she owns giving an eight-foot strip to the City.

After discussion the Council tabled the matter as a drainage ditch is involved in the transaction and the Council would like to check the property out.

A report by engineer Joe Brown Jr. on Bouslog Street showed no more completed since two weeks ago due to the weather.

Brown presented a request in writing from Graham Construction Co. for an additional 15 days on the contract due to weather conditions and was granted the extension.

Joe Brown Sr. requested permission to proceed with the preliminary design on the Small Cities Program on the Washington Street project and it was unanimously approved.

Brown also presented a proposal from the firm of Louis J. Capozzoli and Associates, Inc. of Baton Rouge for the soil borings and analyses on the project.

The proposal was for $2,400 and would include a 40 foot boring, two 15 foot, and one 10 foot.

Brown said it is very important to get estimates on construction costs to have the borings and analyses and the motion was presented and passed.

In discussion, Council asked fellow member Fred Wagner his opinion and he replied, "The geotechnical engineering field is very technical, and we want to abide by the Engineers (Brown) recommendation, and the price is reasonable."

Before closing, Council approved advertising for bids on re-carpeting the mayor's, secretary's, City Clerk's offices and the retelling of Council Chambers.

Bay Mayor seeks return of old city minute books

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett said Tuesday he will seek return of 13 volumes of city minute books given to the State Department of Archives and History in Jackson by former Bay Mayor Warren Carver and his city clerk, Lucien Kidd.

Bennett is conducting a search of past city hall minutes to determine if the former officials had authorization to turn over to the state agency volumes covering the periods Jan. 4, 1856 to May 2, 1903 and Aug. 5, 1916 to Aug. 6, 1956.

Bennett said he will travel to Jackson March 9 in an attempt to talk with Ronald E. Tomlin of the Archives Department.

"I am taking along some packing material and hope to bring those books back with me," Bennett said Tuesday.

According to a "Contract of Gift" between the Archives Department and the City of Bay St. Louis, signed by the two former city officials and dated May 24, 1977, 13 volumes of city minute books were presented to the department as an unrestricted gift, transferring the legal title, copyright, and literary property rights to the department.

A stipulation in the contract calls for the books to be microfilmed and a copy supplied to the city.

Carver Monday allegedly expressed disbelief when told he had signed a contract conveying the books to the Archives Department.

Carver reportedly said he must have "been very tired" when asked to sign the document and he did so without actually reading the contract.

Carver said he plans to write the Archives Department in an attempt to have the books returned to the city.

In a letter from the Archives Department to Sea Coast Echo Heritage Editor Joe Pilet, Tomlin said his department was given the books in an effort to "preserve the records...which were deteriorating."

Tomlin added that no provisions to return the books to the city after microfilming were discussed.

In a letter dated May 10, 1978, uncovered by Katie Johnson at City Hall, Tomlin tells the Hancock County Historical Society that he is willing to discuss returning the books with the mayor.

"It is not normally our policy to store municipal records after filming as we are the state archives," Tomlin writes.

"In this case, however, it was felt the volumes could be better preserved in our modern archival facility. If the city wishes the return of the original volumes, we would certainly be willing to discuss the matter," the letter continues.

"Our primary concern is the preservation and availability of valuable historical materials and however this can best be accomplished would meet with our concurrence," he added.

"I will do everything within my power to have the books returned to City Hall," Bennett emphasized Tuesday.

smallest area possible, and kept the damage to a minimum," commented Wagner.

Wagner, after briefly surveying the damages added, "We will have to check the block walls because of the severe heat, and floor tile may have to be replaced because of the heat and water damages."

Wagner said it would take at least two weeks to get an estimate on the total amount of damage. "We will be preparing two documents at one time, one set for the Insurance Company and other for contractors to bid on," the architect explained.

Wagner said his firm will secure the services of Neil Jefferey, Waveland structural engineer; and William Pitcarin of Bay St. Louis, a mechanical engineer, for help on the damage assessment.

"I usually work with either an electrical engineer from New Orleans or one out of McComb and will secure the services of which ever one is available."

McCallough reported Wednesday that all classes were being conducted at the senior high school with the biology class rooms and the chemistry and physics class rooms boarded off.

McCallough stated, "I appreciate the attitude and help of the staff, faculty and students for pitching in this week and helping cleanup the school. Everyone was a big help in enabling us to resume classes so fast."

McCallough also expressed high praise of everyone involved in fighting the fire.

He reported, "I would like to congratulate the fire departments from the area and also the public for their united effort in putting the fire out. The faculty and staff were a big help in fighting the fire as well as the traffic control by both Bay St. Louis and Waveland Police and addition to the sheriff's department. The school board and I are most appreciative of their fine work."

Prompt action avoided a tremendous loss

The recent fire at Bay Senior High could have been a more serious loss without the professional action taken by local firemen.

The reason we say local firemen is because so many different fire companies were involved in quelling the blaze.

The importance of the mutual aid agreement among the fire companies in Hancock County and along the Coast was quite evident.

Spectators were amazed at the amount of fire fighting equipment and the number of firemen, regulars and volunteers, which arrived at the scene in only minutes after the alarm was turned in by an alert teacher, Gary Griffin.

All that action at the fire was not the only activity involving fire companies. Other fire trucks and personnel were moving into positions covering for the equipment at the scene. As an example, Waveland had a fire truck ready at Station No. 2 in case of need in Waveland or Bay St. Louis and Long Beach moved one of its fire trucks to the Pass Christian station to cover for that city's two units working at Bay High.

While the fire was in progress at the high school, a grass fire was reported almost out of control in Bay St. Louis. Clermont Harbor Volunteer Fire Department responded to that call.

The fire chiefs and fire fighters all work as a team, professionally and without hesitation.

Would you believe there were about 15 fire engines, tankers, rescue units and over 50 firemen, regulars and volunteers, on the scene fighting the fire. One chief reported there must have been more than 5,000 feet of hose on the ground.

Fire trucks feeding fire trucks, firemen working with other companies, taking instructions from other chiefs, all working as if they were all from the same company.

Just recently, we noted the same type of cooperation at a Marina fire on Washington Road—these joint efforts are not an occasional matter, firemen in this area stand together whenever there is a call and extra help is required.

We sure could use unification in many other areas in Hancock County like we have in the fire companies.

Another thing very evident at the fire was the traffic and crowd control by the Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Hancock County law officers. Their work enabled the fire units and firemen to get to the scene without delay.

As we have stated before, fire fighting in Hancock County has come a long way in the last 10 years.

The volunteer companies receive some of their monies for equipment from the State Insurance rebates and revenue sharing. The Municipalities receive some of their monies for equipment through revenue sharing and insurance rebates through their communities.

Without proper equipment, these firemen would be unable to operate.

We should remember the help they receive from our Board of Supervisors and municipalities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

During the year, many fund raising events are held by the volunteer fire units, and we as citizens should help them in any way we possibly can.

If a building is completely engulfed in flames when it is reported to a fire department, chances are slim that it will be saved, but if there are adjacent buildings they stand a good chance of being saved.

Our community continuously strives for professional improvement, and as a matter of a fact, many of them are attending a fire fighting school tonight at the Waveland Fire Station No. 2.

This class for four nights of three hours each started on Monday.

The chiefs and firemen of Bay St. Louis, Waveland, Clermont Harbor, Diamondhead, East Hancock, Henderson Point, West Hancock, Pass Christian, Kiln Fire Department, Bayside, NASA, Bay St. Louis police, Waveland police, Hancock County sheriff's deputies, City and County officials, Mobile Medic, school administrators, teachers and anyone else who gave aid during the Bay Senior High incident should all be commended for a job well done.

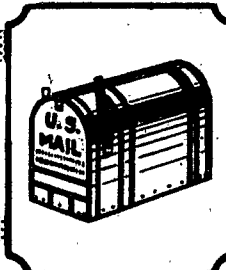

BEADS, BEADS, BEADS

That's the name of the game at Mardi Gras parades for youngsters like this pretty lass who managed quite a collection at the Nereds Parade in Waveland Sunday. The next big event on the Mardi Gras schedule in this area is Diamondhead's Land and Water Parades Saturday beginning at 2 p.m. at the Country Club and terminating at the Marina where the boat parade will then come in. New doctors practicing here

February 20, 1979

Sea Coast Echo
Dear Mr. Editor:

Many times in the last several weeks it has come to my attention most people do not know we have two new medical doctors. They come to us with high accreditations and joined with our other fine physicians here to practice.

Dr. Erlinda Alcaen opened her Obstetrics and Gynecology Clinic on Dunbar Avenue across the street from Hancock General Hospital in October 1978.

Since opening, she has delivered several babies and seen patients daily. Sometimes the stork arrives early and she's here to greet him! Though quite a few people know of her clinic, I still meet those who don't.

The first of January, Dr. Joseph R. Lee, surgeon, started practicing here in the building formerly occupied by Dr. McFarland on Second Street (next to Jitney Jungle).

He's tackled a big job. Our county has never had a surgeon actually practicing and living here. His services fill a long-require need.

In those accidents and emergencies requiring general surgery immediately, patients will receive expert treatment at our own hospital. He wants to help our hospital offer more to meet the needs of the growing population.

Hancock General Hospital with its staff and physicians (established and new now offer medical care and services as good as, or better than, any on the Coast.

As a member of the Board of Hospital Trustees, I know the administrative staff and all board members have put in many long hours.

I am very proud to be a member of this Board. We look to each and every one of you in the County to give your hospital and all of our physicians your support by using them for any medical care you may need.

Hancock County residents need no longer drive out of the county for medical services and hospitalization. We have a fully accredited hospital here.

County board recoils at joint meeting appeal

By RICH ADAMS

Hancock County School Board President Woodrow Ladner said yesterday he and other members of his board would not attend a meeting with the Bay St. Louis Municipal Separate School Board slated last night by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

The two boards were invited to a closed meeting by the Chamber's executive committee to "try to get the two factors together," according to Chamber Executive Committee Member L. J. Breaux.

Breaux said the closed meeting was "nothing secret." Ladner said Wednesday morning the county board would not attend the meeting that evening.

"None of our board members are going to attend," Ladner said.

"We are having our own meeting with the Bay School Board. We agreed, after the bond issue was defeated, that we would meet with the Bay Board after the election and appointment of two members of that board. We are waiting until the Bay Board is seated," he added.

James Ginn was assigned to the Bay School Board by the Bay St. Louis City Council Tuesday, and will succeed former Board Member Robert Hamilton in March.

Another member will be elected to the Board March 3 to represent Waveland and the school district outside the municipalities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

Ladner said he did not know what was to be discussed at Wednesday's meeting.

Bay Board President Virginia Gex said Wednesday she has received a letter inviting her and the other Bay Board members to the meeting, but also added she did not know what was to be discussed.

"They (the executive committee) did not say what was to be discussed...they just asked us to come and discuss the school systems," Ms. Gex said Wednesday.

"The meeting is not open to the public by the Chamber's request," she added.

County Board Member Johnny Banks said he received a letter from the Chamber executives, but added he has not received any further contact from the Chamber.

Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary Jerry Benigno said Wednesday she was not sure what the meeting concerned, but added a statement will be released to the media today or Friday.

Chamber Treasurer Mary Perkins also said a report of the closed meeting between the two boards will be released later this week and declined to comment on issues to be discussed.

Heritage editor tells why 'Joe' wears skirts

By JOE PILET

First an apology: I have always felt newspaper people should put news in the foreground and their private lives in the background. That is why a number of readers of the Sea Coast Echo think I am a man. I do have a masculine name.

I get letters addressed to "Mr." and phone calls asking for "Mr. Joe Pilet." I was born in Poplarville, the youngest of three sisters. We had no brothers. In April I will be 69 years old!

Then, an explanation: I am not a historian. I am a journalist. I studied journalism at MSCW, worked as a reporter for the Times Picayune, and also was a contributing reporter to several Southern newspapers.

Then I worked for the Pan American Life Insurance Company. They put out a trade journal "Pallid." I worked in that department.

Following my marriage to E. A. Allen, I worked for The Cotton Trade Journal. Offices were in the Cotton Exchange Building and I was assistant editor of the International Edition which served 34 foreign countries.

After my daughter Barbara and my son Joe were born I was promoted to the formula-fixing, diaper-washing department and worked from my home address.

During World War II we moved around a lot since my husband was a Navy Recruiting Officer. But in 1949 we were civilians and put down roots in Pass Christian where I freelanced a bit under the name Joe Allen until my husband's death in 1958.

Then I worked in public relations for Gulfport's Allied Van Lines.

In 1961 I was married to Colonel Nunez C. Pilet, U.S. Army, retired. Our home was "Yasume" on North Beach before Camille claimed it.

We traveled a lot, several European countries, Japan, Thailand, The Philippines, some islands, Mexico, Guatemala, etc. When my son Joe graduated from Tulane University he was commissioned a lieutenant in the U.S. Marines. He gave his life in Vietnam in 1968.

The following year my mother died. In 1973 Colonel Pilet died in Keasler Medical Center.

My daughter Barbara, now Mrs. Barry Bell, lives with her husband and three daughters in San Juan where her husband is director of the Veterans Administration.

I live alone and enjoy research, writing, gardening and making a few small contributions of my time to community activities.

I have edited Heritage I, and Heritage II, and Heritage III is shaping up nicely. I feel fairly well qualified to write about Hancock County because as a child I listened by the hour to conversations centering around happenings in this area and my family passed old records along to me.

But, YOU, the readers of the Sea Coast Echo, are my finest contributors - my best source.

Everyone helps! Attics are explored, old storage boxes and old trunks are opened, Memories are sharpened. Little souvenirs are found. Records in the city hall and court house are opened for perusal, old newspapers are searched through, and the Department of Archives and History has never failed to respond to a request.

So, because you cherish and honor the memories of those early settlers, Heritage III will record the growth and development of a pleasant place in which to live - HANCOCK COUNTY.

County proceeds on Bayou Caddy project

By LESLIE WILLIAMS

The Board announced three measures should direct progress on the Bayou Cadet project in addition to certain stipulations.

The stipulations were added to provide maximum protection to the county.

The project measures included three resolutions.

First, authorize Board president to sign and accept the Coastal Energy Impact Program sub-grant funds agreement "after approval by Board members and Board Attorney Walter Gex."

Second, authorize Board president to notify U.S. Army Corps of Engineers in the Mobile District that Hancock County is prepared to proceed with the Bayou Cadet project, "provided there is clarification to the satisfaction of the Board as to the extent and ramifications of the hold harmless agreement required to be executed by Hancock County."

Third, authorize project engineers Burk and Associates Inc. of New Orleans to retain a Master Appraisal Institute appraiser to approve appraisals on property purchased for the project, "with the appraiser fee not exceeding $1,000."

"Hold harmless means," said Gex, "whereby one party agrees to absorb the responsibility or liability for an act."

The hold harmless has the potential for making Hancock County legally responsible to persons injured resulting from incidents which may later occur at the project area.

The project will create an anchorage basin for docking boats at Bayou Cadet in Hancock County.

In other action, the Board hired Aero International, a fixed-base operator at the Gulfport airport to be a new fixed-base operator at Stennis International Airport in Hancock County.

Board President Alton Kellar told Aero President J.V. Forbes he was sorry about the delay in approving Aero as FBO for Stennis Airfield.

Kellar added, "If there is any way the county can assist you - just let us know." Forbes thanked the Board President and announced the company should be located at Stennis immediately.

The Board scheduled a hearing for the Hancock County branch of the International Society for Krishna Consciousness Inc. to discuss exemption from taxes on about 640 acres of land owned by the society.

The Board set the hearing at the Hancock County Courthouse May 21, at 1:30 p.m.

The Krishna community is located in extreme northwest Hancock County only a few miles south of Carriere. Also during the meeting, Beat Two Supervisor Kellar reported he had received a letter from the Hancock County School District requesting Kellar prohibit further dumping at the Beat Two dump on sixteenth section land, and when the refuse is removed that a ditch be dug to prevent further dumping at the site.

School Superintendent Terrell Randolph said residents in School Board Member Monvel Cuevas' beat complained to Cuevas about the unsightly and unsanitary conditions at the dump.

Cuevas, at an earlier school board meeting, moved the Beat Two dump be closed. The motion was seconded by Beat Five Board Member Johnny Banks and passed.

A spokesman for the Hancock County Planning and Zoning Commission recommended the board take no action on a request to approve variances on three homes in the Diamondhead subdivision.

Commission Attorney John Scaffid told the Board "There is no law or provision in which the county can grant a variance from, and therefore the commission recommends the county take no action on the matter because it is an internal problem."

The Commission recommended streets in the Jordan River Shores subdivision be accepted by the county for maintenance.

The Supervisors approved the streets for maintenance.

Based on Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner's recommendation the Board accepted a bid of $2,895 by Kenny Lott of the Kiln to purchase two 77 and one 76 used Ford cars from the sheriff's department.

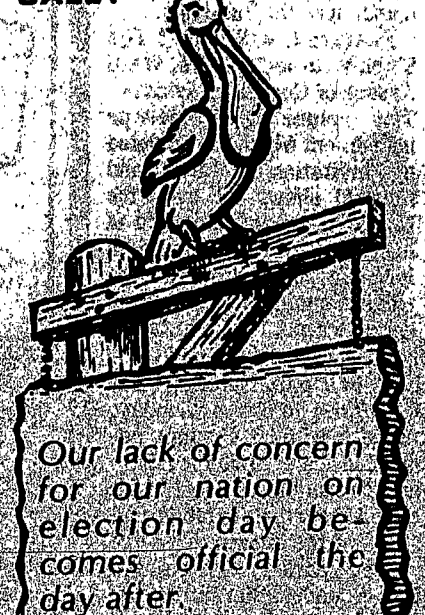

Upon Beat One Supervisor Bert Courge's recommendation the Board approved the low bid for nine gauge fence of $1,075 from the Gulf Coast Aluminum Products in Waveland.

The fence will be used to surround the Beat One county barn.

The Board also went on record supporting Mississippi House of Representatives Bill 490.

The bill states as follows: "Any person who in good faith exercises reasonable emergency care to an injured person shall not be liable for any civil damages as a result of any act or omission of such person."

Legal Secretaries hear tax discussion

Harrison and Hancock Counties Legal Secretaries Association met Wednesday, Feb. 14, at Best Western in Gulfport.

Ernest L. Shelton III guest speaker discussed income tax laws, tax breaks, exemptions, and estate taxes.

Winner of a $500 scholarship awarded by the association is Susan Laubmeir, senior at Long Beach High School.

Miss Laubmeir is daughter of Mrs. Mary Laubmeir of Long Beach, an honor student, a member of the Beta Club and drum majorette.

Her application will be submitted to the National Association of Legal Secretaries. NALS awards four $1,500 scholarships each year. Barbara Hildeburg from Harrison Central was first alternate, and Selina Robinson from Gulfport High was second alternate.

Patsy Bishop, governor, gave a report on the MALS Spring board meeting, which was held in Pascagoula in January.

She announced that Lynne Stewart was appointed MALS bar liaison chairman for the remainder of the year.

Frances Favre announced Bosses' Night will be March 17.

Becky Barrett, employed by Palmer & Gaines, was approved for membership.

MARANTHA, a religious musical group from Pensacola, Fla., will make four appearances here this weekend at First Assembly of God, Waveland. The veteran Gospel group will minister in revival services at 7:30 p.m. Saturday; 8:30 a.m., 11 a.m. and 7:30 p.m. Sunday. They have appeared often on nationally televised religion programs and were "well received" on an earlier visit here last September, according to Brother Charles E. Clark, Assembly pastor.

VAH INPATIENTS
Veterans Administration medical centers will treat more than 1.3 million inpatients this year and veterans will make an estimated 18.1 million outpatient visits.

Whitfield is MFA's Hancock representative
Mississippi Forestry Association is conducting a membership development campaign.

John T. Keeton Jr. of Grenada, chairman, says emphasis on membership growth will continue through March 15.

Any Mississippi citizen or business organization with an interest in its forests is invited to affiliate with MFA, says Keeton.

The association's purpose is to conserve, develop, protect, and promote Mississippi's forests and related natural resources.

Sam Whitfield Jr. of Sam Whitfield Tr. Co., Inc., Bay St. Louis, is MFA membership chairman for Hancock County.

Persons in Hancock County interested in joining MFA should contact Whitfield or MFA, 630 North State Street, Jackson, 39201.

FIREMEN ATTEND SCHOOL - Firemen from the Hancock County Firemen's Association attended classes this week in basic fire-fighting conducted by Robert Hicks. The classes started on Monday night with hours from 7 to 10 and will end tonight at Waveland's Fire Station No. 2. Hicks, the Southern District instructor for the Mississippi State Fire Academy presented oral and slide presentations to the local firemen. Waveland Fire Chief Kenny Fayard reports members from every Hancock County fire fighting group attended the classes. Fayard added that classes are held on a routine basis to train new firemen and refresh the veterans in techniques of fighting fires. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

ANOTHER CARROLL AVENUE CAVE-IN - Hayward Cuevas, right, and Doug Mitchell get the pumps going on a cave-in in the 400 block of Carroll Avenue Tuesday morning. Bay Mayor Larry Bennett said Tuesday night the hole had to be recovered and well pointed before repairs can be completed due to continuous soil caving. Cuevas and Mitchell are employees of Industrial Ready Mix who were the apparent low bidders on the equipment rental of the items needed for the job. (Staff photo - Ellis Cuevas)

Naturally, if you would ask people at random in Hancock County what they think of 4-H, you'd receive a lot of different answers. I suppose some have never heard of it.

Others are aware that 4-H is for youth but think it has something to do with cows and hogs. The sophisticates who inhabit art galleries, concert halls and French restaurants might admit that 4-H'ers are nice, clean kids but add a belief that they are squarer than a baby block and reflect a naive country attitude. (But, sophisticates might say that of anyone who hasn't yet tasted the world's grapes.)

However, a lot of people agree that 4-H'ers are intelligent, hardworking, purposeful, decent and not inclined toward troublemaking - the solid, productive citizens of tomorrow.

To us, 4-H has five definite characteristics:

- 4-H is important.
- 4-H is unique.
- 4-H is effective.
- 4-H is encouraging.
- 4-H is exciting.

4-H is important to over 200,000 youth in Mississippi who are involved in the 4-H program.

Local people support 4-H programs with time and money. 4-H is also supported by private businesses. 4-H gives youth an opportunity to plan, to learn and to work with others.

4-H is unique in that it is related to the land grant university system. The 4-H youth agents who are coordinator of the youth programs in the counties are "off-campus" teachers" of Mississippi State University.

They have at their disposal up-to-date information gained through university research. They also have the support of specialists who provide programs for the specific needs of youth.

4-H's effectiveness lies in the impact it has on the interaction between adults and youth.

This is one of the strongest advantages in the 4-H program. In a time when there is much talk about the communication gap and the generation gap, 4-H youth, parents and interested adults are working together to plan programs, and projects to learn from each other.

4-H is growing. 4-H started primarily as a way to teach agriculture and home economics to the parents of boys and girls.

If you don't look good We don't look good.

JACKIE VEULEMAN...from Many, Louisiana...started as Carpenter Helper in 1969...now a Rebar-General Foreman on a major Louisiana construction project...Jackie, wife, Elizabeth, and their son live in DeRidder...he's an avid sports fan, hunter and fisherman.

WILMER ADAMS...from Satsuma, Alabama...Tug Boat Captain...Brownbuilder since 1977...Sonny and his wife, Louise, have a son at Satsuma High...Louise is active in Northgate Garden Club...Sonny hunts, fishes and boats in his spare time.

DONNA TUCKER...from Moss Point...Brownbuilder since 1975 when she started as a Pipe Welder Helper...graduate of Moss Point High...now lives in Escatawpa...enjoys dancing and horseback riding.

Meet the Gulf Coast Brownbuilders... members of Brown & Root's worldwide team

Brown & Root, one of the world's largest engineering and construction companies, owes much of its success over the past 60 years to the skills and loyalty of its Brownbuilders.

Along the Gulf Coast, Brownbuilders are designing and constructing offshore oil and gas platforms and pipelines, chemical and petrochemical plants, power plants, bridges, highways, and oil field sites.

Whatever we do, wherever we do it, one thing remains the same. We recruit, hire, train, and advance as many local people as possible—Gulf Coast Brownbuilders like the ones you see here—working on Brown & Root projects throughout the Gulf Coast states.

It's been our policy for years to hire locally

first, so wherever Brown & Root works there are job opportunities for people qualified, willing, and able to work. That way, local communities, counties, and states get maximum benefit from projects on which we work—in jobs, payrolls, purchases, savings, and taxes.

Gulf Coast Brownbuilders...people like you at work near here.

Meet the Gulf Coast Brownbuilders... members of Brown & Root's worldwide team

Brown & Root, one of the world's largest engineering and construction companies, owes much of its success over the past 60 years to the skills and loyalty of its Brownbuilders.

Along the Gulf Coast, Brownbuilders are designing and constructing offshore oil and gas platforms and pipelines, chemical and petrochemical plants, power plants, bridges, highways, and oil field sites.

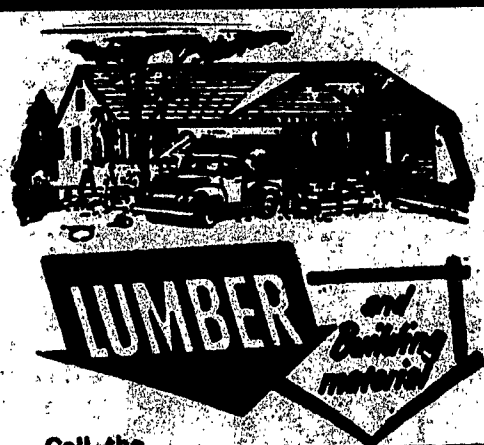

Whatever we do, wherever we do it, one thing remains the same. We recruit, hire, train, and advance as many local people as possible—Gulf Coast Brownbuilders like the ones you see here—working on Brown & Root Projects throughout the Gulf Coast states.

It's been our policy for years to hire locally

first, so wherever Brown & Root works there are job opportunities for people qualified, willing, and able to work. That way, local communities, counties and states get maximum benefit from projects on which we work—in jobs, payrolls, purchases, savings, and taxes.

Gulf Coast Brownbuilders...people like you at work near here.

Hancock Library offers new, large print books

The following large print books have recently been received by the Hancock County Library System.

I TAKE THIS MAN by Emille Loring. "The loveliest bride of the season," they said when Penelope married millionaire Donald Garth. Yet, though she was mistress of a vast estate, there was a secret barrier between them.

THE HUMAN FACTOR by Graham Greene. Castle is the ultimate intelligence man... reliable, trustworthy, and nearing the end of a seemingly placid career in secret service. When a leak is traced to his department, it is natural that he proceed to have the suspected employee eliminated. Yet there is the human factor to Castle's personality, and in security work, the necessity of caring brings risks.

LAST MOVEMENT by Joan Aiken. Helikon, a tranquil sanitarium on a romantic Greek island is a haven for sophisticated from all over the world. But Helikon cannot protect its guests from their pasts. And for Mike and Lady Julia Saint, a famous playwright, it becomes a scene of shocking revelations - and murder.

LYDIA by Clare Darcy. Who but a brash young lady from America would arrive in Regency London and announce her intention of marrying for wealth? But to do it, Lydia has to control her wastrel brother and her gambling grandmother, outsmart the odious Pentony, fend off two unsuitable suitors, and decide how to handle the insufferable but irresistible Viscount Northover.

KG 200 by J. D. Gilman and John Clive. KG 200 was the best-hidden fighting force of World War II. A top-secret squadron of the German Air Force, its individual units were unknown even to one another. Even today, despite the authors' research in nine countries, silence still shrouds the operation. This novel is fiction, but the incidents related really took place.

Coast DAR presents Good Citizen awards

Gulf Coast Chapter DAR's Good Citizens for the year were honored at an annual History Month Luncheon in Gulfport on Valentine's Day. Mrs. Harold Noll introduced Neill White III of Gulfport, son of Neill White Jr. and Mrs. Jane Lovett; Virginia Vegas of Pass Christian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vegas; and Virginia McKay of Long Beach, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James C. McKay.

Each was presented with a pin and certificate. They also received a copy of the book, Washington Landmarks.

Mrs. Cleve Allen, past president of Mississippi Garden Clubs, gave the Chapter some of the history of garden clubs in America.

The first was formed in Athens, Georgia in 1891. Mississippi's first garden club was in Greenville in 1922. The Mississippi State Organization and the National Council were both formed in 1929.

The national convention, celebrating 50 years of beautifying our country, will be held in New Orleans this year.

Gulf Coast Chapter DAR member Lucy Ewin's mother and her Garden Club were hostesses for the first Mississippi State Convention held in Gulfport.

Mrs. Roy Jones presented the President General's message.

Mrs. James Coker read a letter from Mrs. G.C. Murray, national defense state chairman on Salt II.

New member introduced was Anne Paine. Guests were Dorothy Parker, Alma Menden and Jane Butler, a member of a chapter in Memphis, TN, now living on the Coast.

Hostesses were Mrs. Nolan Barrios Jr. and Mrs. James Q. Coker.

ORATORY CONTESTANTS—Participants in an oratory contest sponsored by American Legion Post No. 77, Waveland, were Judy Spear, left, Vicki Young, Mrs. Gloria Dean, Bay Senior High teacher; Donald Harvil and Eddie Goodwin. Harvil was selected the winner and will compete for a district title next month in Biloxi. Steven Stant was event chairman for Post 77. The competition was held Saturday, Feb. 17. Pilgrimage '79 includes 11 Gulf Coast communities

Visitors from far and near are expected for Pilgrimage '79, the 11 day, 44 event, 32nd annual edition of the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs Spring showcase of homes, gardens, and special places of interest.

Some 11 communities in the three Mississippi counties bordering the Gulf of Mexico will be involved in the March 2 Pilgrimage all free of charge.

Besides homes old and new, Pilgrimage '79 will give visitors an insight into how Coast dwellers make a living including a tour of the world's largest banana port at Gulfport, Thursday, March 22; the 130,000 acre NASA-National Space Technology Laboratories at Bay St. Louis, where rocket engines are tested, Monday, March 26; and a shrimp and oyster factory, DeJean Seafood Factory, Saturday, March 31.

Another separate feature will be a visit to Beauvoir in Biloxi, Confederate shrine and last home of Jefferson Davis, President of the Confederacy. This is the only free showing of this landmark each year.

A Pilgrimage first will be Tuesday, March 27 opening of the 125 year old Wharton home as part of the Pass Christian event. This old home was twice occupied by Union officers during the Civil War.

Fascinating homes, gardens, garden centers and churches are also to be seen in eight other Coast communities. Guests will be treated to free refreshments at hospitality houses in each community.

The schedule: March 22, Port of Gulfport tour; March 23, Beauvoir; March 24, Gulfport; March 25, Long Beach; March 26, Tour of NSTL; March 27, Pass Christian; March 28, Bay-Waveland; March 29, Gulf Hills; March 30, Diamondhead; March 31, Biloxi, and April 1, Pascagoula, Moss Point and Gautier.

A brochure and complete information may be obtained by writing: Mississippi Gulf Coast Visitors Bureau, P.O. Box 4554, Biloxi 39501.

Hawkettes triumph in State Class A Playoffs

By RICH ADAMS
The Hancock North Central Hawkettes recorded their third tournament win over the Pass Christian Lady Pirates Saturday night to capture the Southern State Playoff crown in Morton.

The Hawkettes defeated the Pass roundballers 47-36 to take the tournament, the HNC squad's fifth straight win over

Pass. The Hawkettes and the Lady Pirates both move to state competition in Jackson, the Hancock cagers meeting the winner in the Pontotoc-Hazelhurst match-up.

The HNC Hawks were defeated in the final game of the Southern State Playoffs, Stone County outscoring the Hawk cagers in the fourth quarter to record the 47-42 victory.

The Hawks, plagued by injuries to key starters, led throughout the match, but were subdued in the final period.

The Stone roundballers defeated the Hawks two weeks ago in the District VIII championship.

Shella Ladner led the Hawkettes with 18 points, the only HNC lady cager to score in double figures.

Ladner recorded six rebounds, followed by Joye Lee with five off the board.

Lee and Shelly Dedeaux both were credited with three assists each.

"We had a poor first quarter," said Head Coach Charlie Jacobs.

"The girls got worked up after the first period and played with intensity...they did not have much poise, but once they got back on track, they controlled the game," he added.

In the boys' game, senior Alan Dedeaux was the only Hawk to score in double figures, recording 18 points.

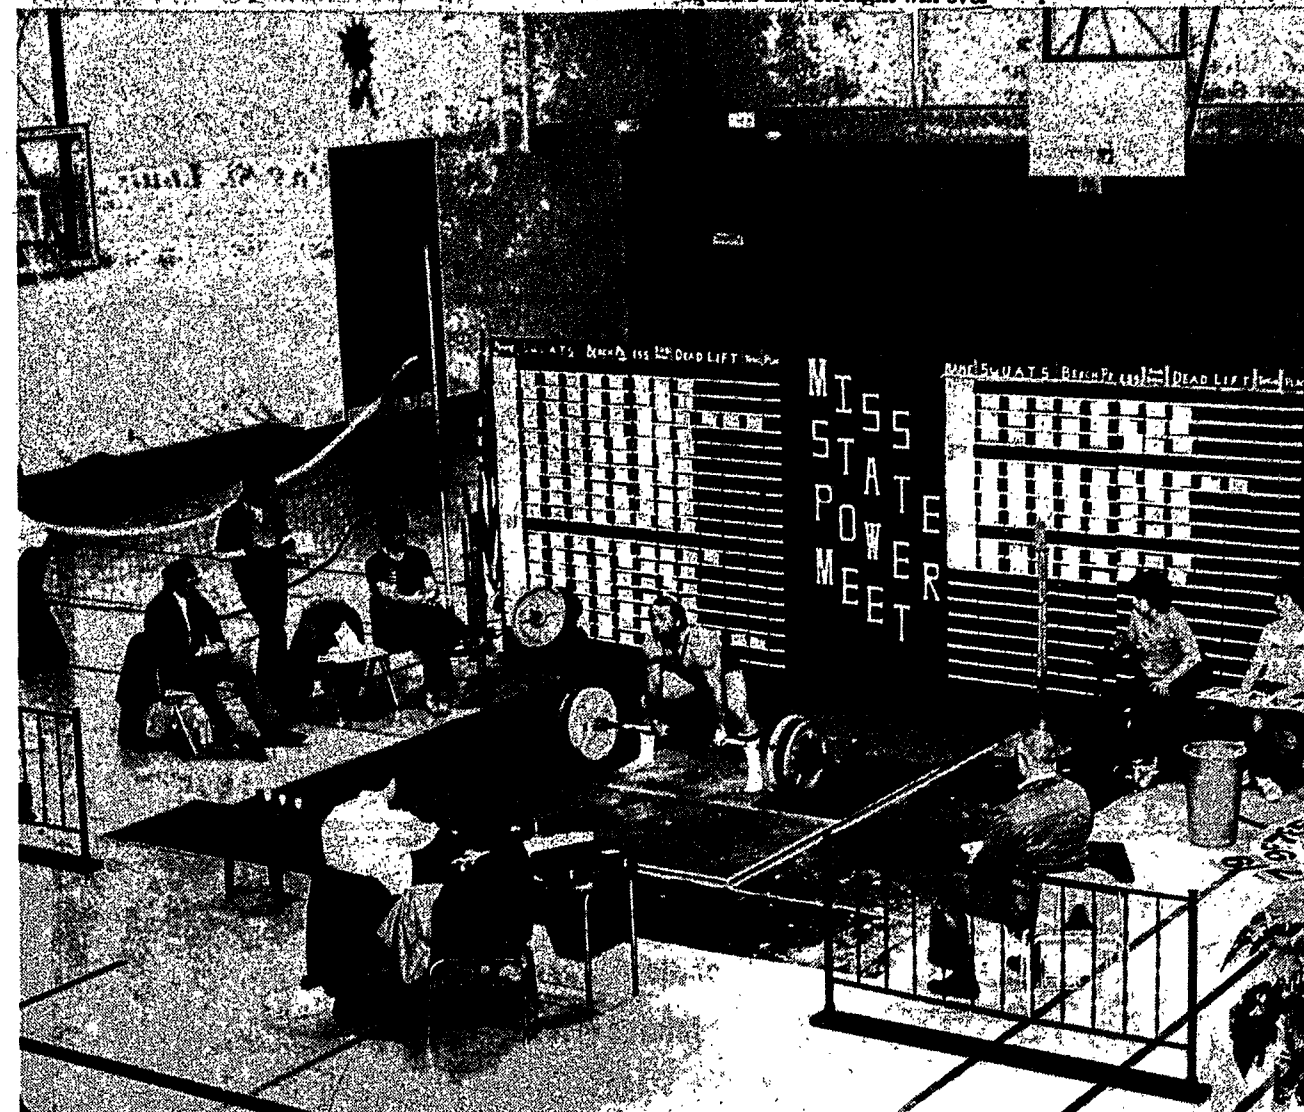

The Tomcats trailed 23-21 at the half and 33-31 at the conclusion of the third period, but outscored the HNC five 16-9 in the final stanza to take the Class A crown.

Head Coach Roland Ladner said three starters are injured and cannot play to their full capacity. He added that the three, Dean Shaw, Barry Arcement, and Zachary Ladner, are all three recuperating and should be in condition for the state championship match on Feb. 28.

"They just didn't have the sharpness they usually have, and that produced a handicap to the team," Ladner said.

The Hawks are now 25-11 for the season, and the Hawkettes boast a 28-6 overall tally.

Hawks hope to 'reach peak' in State Tournament finals

By RICH ADAMS
Hancock North Central Head Coach Roland Ladner said Tuesday he feels his squad will "hit their peak" when they face other Class A championship basketball teams in Jackson Feb. 28 in the state finals.

His Hawks will meet

T'Chula, the North State No. 3 team, at Jackson Coliseum Wednesday night in preliminary elimination for the Class A state championship.

BOY'S CLASS A STATE BASKETBALL CHAMPIONSHIP
JACKSON COLISEUM, JACKSON

Tonight, the HNC Hawkettes will face the winner of a elimination match between Pontotoc and Hazelhurst in the coliseum in Jackson at 7 p.m. The Hawkettes defeated the Pass Christian Lady Pirates last weekend to claim the Class A South State crown.

"Most teams reach their peak during tournament time...we have not peaked yet," Ladner said.

"We hope to hit our peak time in the state tournament," he added.

Ladner said three starters who were injured in District VIII play are "recovering," adding they should be ready to play in the state contest.

"I let all three, Dean Shaw, Barry Arcement, and Zachary Ladner, out of practice. They are all undergoing therapy," Ladner said.

Ladner's squad has a chance of facing the Stone County Tomcats, who defeated the Hawks in the South State Playoffs and the District VIII finals, if the Hawks advance to the finals.

Ladner said he feels, if healthy, his cagers may defeat the Stone County roundballers.

"Stone County is a fine ball-club. I feel we can put things together and defeat them if we are healthy," the HNC skipper said.

"If we believe we can win, as a team, we can win...I am looking forward to winning the state championship," he added.

Ladner explained how the Hawks were not capable of a good game inside the boards, and relied heavily on the outside shooting of Alan Dedeaux to carry the squad in the first half of the season.

"During the first half, we depended on outside shooting. Our inside players were inexperienced. All the inside players are doing a fine job, now," Ladner said.

"Steve Nunn, Moses Hill, and Zachary Ladner have come a long way, and carry the inside with confidence," he added.

The Hawkettes, with a 26-6 overall record, play tonight in the Jackson Coliseum. The Hawks, having compiled a 25-11 record, play T'Chula Wednesday in Jackson.

Stanislaus AAU power lift meet produces 15 state records

By RICH ADAMS
Weightlifters Saturday shattered 15 state records as three international judges and some 400 spectators watched the AAU Mississippi State Power Lift Meet in the St. Stanislaus gymnasium.

Bay St. Louis native Joseph 'Doc' Rhodes, unexpectedly changing his weight category from the 184-pound class to the 181-pound class, set state records in the squat, dead lift, bench press, and total weight.

He now holds all state records in the 148, 165, and 181-pound classes.

Rhodes' weightlifting team, the Mississippi Ironmen, took the team trophy, and Rhodes won another individual trophy in his weight class.

Rhodes' total lifting weight of 1,725 pounds was termed as "phenomenal" by St. Stanislaus weightlifter's coach Brother Bennett, noting the record holder in the 224-pound group lifted a total only 22 pounds heavier than that of Rhodes.

Competition veteran Lee Maibe set state records across the board, raising the state total by 200 pounds.

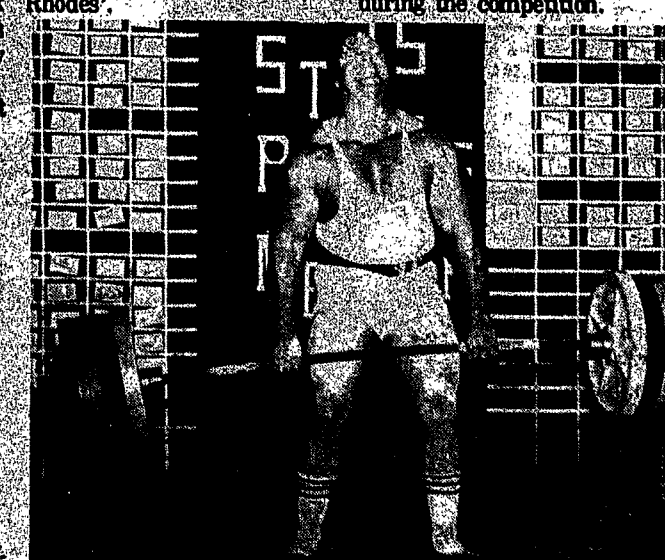

Billy Boutwell broke his own state records Saturday, recording a 1,560 pound total during the competition.

Billy Boutwell broke his own state records Saturday, recording a 1,560 pound total during the competition.

St. Stanislaus' Dong Koch

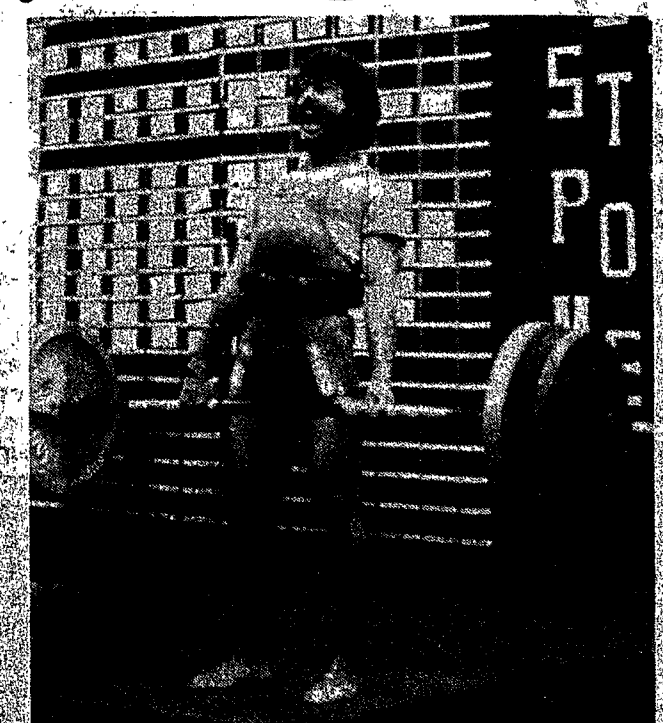

Karl Francis

An existing world record was shattered in the 'over 40' age group as 41-year-old Karl Francis dead lifted 623 pounds.

In the 132-pound class, National and World co-petition veteran Lee Maibe set state records across the board, raising the state total by 200 pounds.

He also increased the dead lift record from 630 pounds to

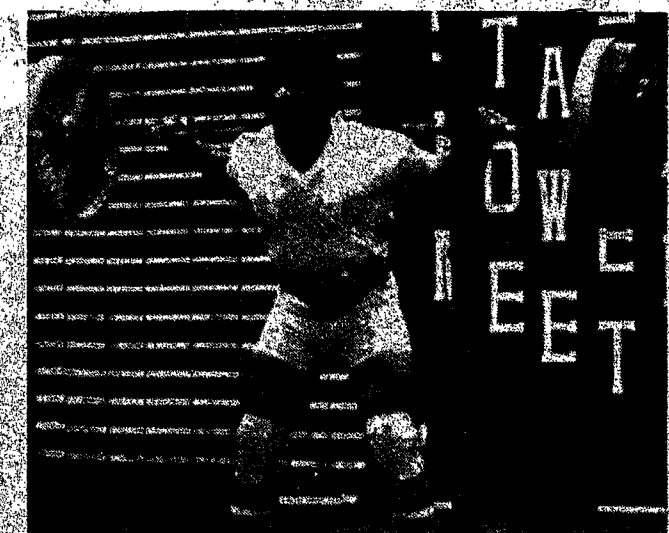

Donnie Corvelle

661 pounds to set a record. In the super-heavyweight class, Daniel Lott dead lifted 680.5 pounds to set a state record in that class.

Brother Bennett said Tuesday he was pleased with the turnout and competition at the meet, adding he was impressed by the performance of two SSC Weightlift Club members, Alvarez Hertzog and Doug Koch.

"I was especially pleased

with Alvarez Hertzog's performance. He recorded an increase of 50 pounds over his lifting total in a meet in January," Bennett said.

"If he continues to improve, we hope to take him to the Teenage National Meet in Fort Worth, Texas," the coach added.

Coach Bennett expressed gratitude to the international judges who gave of their own time to officiate at the meet.

"I would like to thank Jim Taylor, John Pettitt, Category One International Judges, and Conrad Carter, National AAU secretary and also a judge, for their kindness and attendance at the meet," Brother Bennett said.

"I would also thank 'Barge' Henley of Baton Rouge, La., who coached the 'event' and is the best in the business," he added.

SPACE LEGAL QUESTIONS
Rapid advances in technology have taken the problems of law to outer space, says a University of Mississippi professor who has been a leader in the study of space law for more than 20 years. "These recent developments in technology have created new legal problems and challenges which must be addressed," says Dr. Stephen Gorove.

Once again the IRS is boasting about how simple they've made it to prepare your taxes.

One look will tell you it's as simple as splitting an atom with a hammer and chisel.

Everyone knows tax forms are complicated, confusing, confounding and downright difficult to fill out. But every year some die-hards insist they can save a few bucks by doing their own taxes—a practice that can backfire at great expense.

You don't have to go through the aggravation of doing your own taxes. (You do have to go through the aggravation of paying them, however).

Let our tax-trained bankers at Hancock Bank prepare your taxes for you. We know the regulations; all the ins and outs of tax preparation.

Our expertise won't only save you a lot of time and effort. Quite possibly it could save you a little money.

This service is for personal tax preparation only. For business taxes, we advise you to consult with your accountant.

For an appointment at any of the locations listed below, call 896-2638. Of course, all information is handled in the strictest confidence.

This year, make preparing your taxes simple. Let us do them for you.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER TEAM

A mother-daughter team of Ole Miss alumni have combined their talents to produce "God Has Special Places," a children's book released in January by Broadman Press in Nashville. The mother, Del Aven, is the wife of an Ole Miss chemical engineering professor, and the daughter, Debra, is currently a graduate student in design at the University. Mrs. Aven wrote the book, which describes a small girl who learns of God's love through the experience of visiting grandparents in the country and the arrival of a new baby brother, and Debra illustrated it. The publication complements Debra's work on a master's degree at the University. As research for her thesis, Debra is writing and illustrating two children's books - one for slow learners and the other for gifted children.

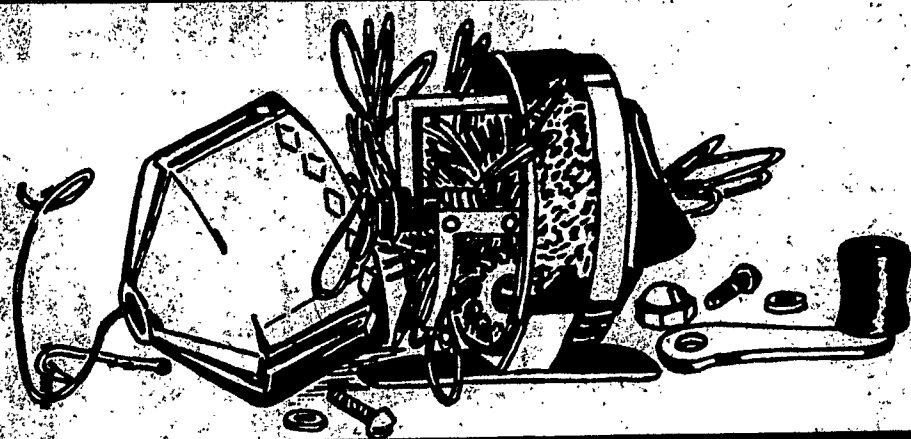

MUSEUMS BENEFIT CHILDREN

Museums can open fascinating new worlds for children, says a University of Mississippi education professor who is helping design an innovative children's museum for North Mississippi. The knowledge and skills children acquire at home and in the classroom can be enhanced through museum visits and follow-up activities, says Mrs. Lynton Diley of the Ole Miss elementary education faculty.

Price Increase Is Seen For Milk

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Milk output in 1979 will probably exceed the 122 billion pounds produced last year, according to Dr. David L. Trammell Jr., leader, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service Marketing Department.

Economists are now predicting that farm milk prices this year will run well above 1978 levels and that large feed supplies will probably keep feed prices increases moderate. U.S. farmers received an average of $11.80 for a hundred pounds of milk in December.

Although farm milk prices will decline seasonally early the rebuilding of commercial stocks may keep prices above the support level even after the seasonal upturn in milk production, says Dr. Trammell. For 1979, farm milk prices are forecast to average 6 to 10 percent above the 1978 level.

Boosted by the higher prices, dairy cash receipts should exceed $12.5 billion. New income also rose in 1978 because farm milk price increases exceeded the rise in production costs. Economists say the income outlook for 1979 is for further improvement, adds the marketing specialist.

YOU AND YOUR PET

DOG CONVULSIONS?

The dog owner watched in alarm as his two-year old Cocker Spaniel collapsed on the floor, making frantic, pumping leg motions.

Visions of a rabid pet flashed through the man's mind, but quickly passed when he remembered the dog had been immunized during the last visit to the veterinarian's office.

A hurried call confirmed the dog's vaccinated status, and suggested another reason for the seizure: epilepsy.

This hypothetical situation describes one of the most alarming experiences a pet owner can have — watching his pet have a seizure, less accurately called a "fit".

A seizure is a series of sudden, involuntary muscular convulsions seen in many animals, but most commonly in dogs. The afflicted animal may run about wildly, bumping into furniture, fall to the ground with its legs thrashing, and temporarily lose control of its bowel functions.

Despite the alarming nature of this activity, a dog having a seizure is not trying to hurt people or other animals. A defect in its brain is simply producing muscle action the pet can't control.

In such situations, attempts at first aid by a well-intentioned observer may be dangerous.

Even a friendly pet can inflict a serious bite of deep scratches during its uncontrolled movements. The best things to do is observe the animal from a safe distance and perhaps move chairs or light furniture so the animal won't fall against them.

No pet should be tied during a seizure, as the strain of muscle and bone against rope or leash can result in serious injury.

If you realize that your pet is prone to regular attacks, you may be able to identify certain warning signals of an approaching seizure.

These signals can include a sudden uneasiness or a frightened or dazed appearance. With some warning, you can escort your pet to a padded open area in a quiet, darkened room to reduce the possibility of injury.

It is important to note that most seizures are very short and end in a few minutes. Any seizure that continues for longer may be a symptom of some other condition — poisoning, internal parasites, even a high fever.

In any instance of extended convulsions, your veterinarian should be contacted immediately.

A tendency toward epileptic-like seizures does not have to end your pet's relationship with the family. Various prescription drugs effectively control the condition, and permit the pet to live a normal, daily existence, although the pet will need medication for the rest of its life.

Seizures that result from viral or parasitic infections will obviously need a different type of treatment. In all cases, only a veterinarian can fully diagnose the cause of your pet's convulsions and help you handle them.

WOOD REINFORCES FIBERGLASS

When buying or repairing boats, people are sometimes surprised or puzzled to find wooden reinforcing members buried inside the fiberglass laminate.

Is this good or bad, some want to know? Will it eventually rot and weaken the boat?

According to the MerCruiser stern drive boating experts, the incorporation of wood in fiberglass boats is a recognized and approved practice.

If the wood is totally dry when built into a fiberglass laminate, and if care is taken to cover it over completely with fiberglass, wood is very unlikely to rot.

This is because a sound covering of fiberglass tends to seal out dampness quite well.

Also, rot experts believe that the resin brushed onto the wood's surface while the work is being done tends to inhibit rot spots from germinating and developing into wood-rotting fungus.

Deep-water safety aided by beacon device

The U.S. Coast Guard recommends that recreational boaters who cruise more than 20 miles offshore carry an emergency position indicating radio beacon on board their boats.

The device (EPIRB) can save mariners hours, or even days, of waiting for rescue should their craft become disabled, the Coast Guard said.

It consists of a small transmitter which, when activated, sends out a distinctive radio signal. Coast Guard rescue aircraft can then "home in" on the signal to locate a distressed vessel quickly.

If no Coast Guard aircraft is within the approximately 100-mile effective range of the EPIRB signal, the signal stands a good chance of being picked up by military or commercial aircraft.

An aircraft that receives the signal can then alert the Coast Guard that a signal has been heard and give its general location.

Originally developed for use in locating downed aircraft, the system has been adopted by the maritime community within the last 10 years. EPIRBs are now required equipment on certain inspected vessels.

Coast Guard officials are quick to caution boaters against using EPIRBs in place of a marine radio, however. If a boater is in a distress situation, broadcasts should be made over the distress frequency of a marine radio in addition to activating the EPIRB.

Although there have been a significant number of cases in which an EPIRB signal was the initial, and only, notification that a vessel was in trouble, the system was not developed for this purpose, Al McCullough of the Coast Guard Search and Rescue Division in Washington, D.C., says.

"The initial purpose of EPIRBs was to help rescuers locate a distressed vessel after it had been established that a distress situation existed," McCullough said.

"However, a side benefit has resulted from the fact that many distress situations occur beneath major air routes. Consequently, the Coast Guard has been alerted to them by overflying aircraft receiving an EPIRB signal."

McCullough expressed optimism that EPIRBs will become even more dependable in the 1980s when a demonstration search and rescue satellite to receive EPIRB signals will be tested. EPIRB systems are available commercially at most marine supply stores, and sell in the $200 range. The system for recreational boats is slightly different from the EPIRB systems required by law on certain inspected vessels.

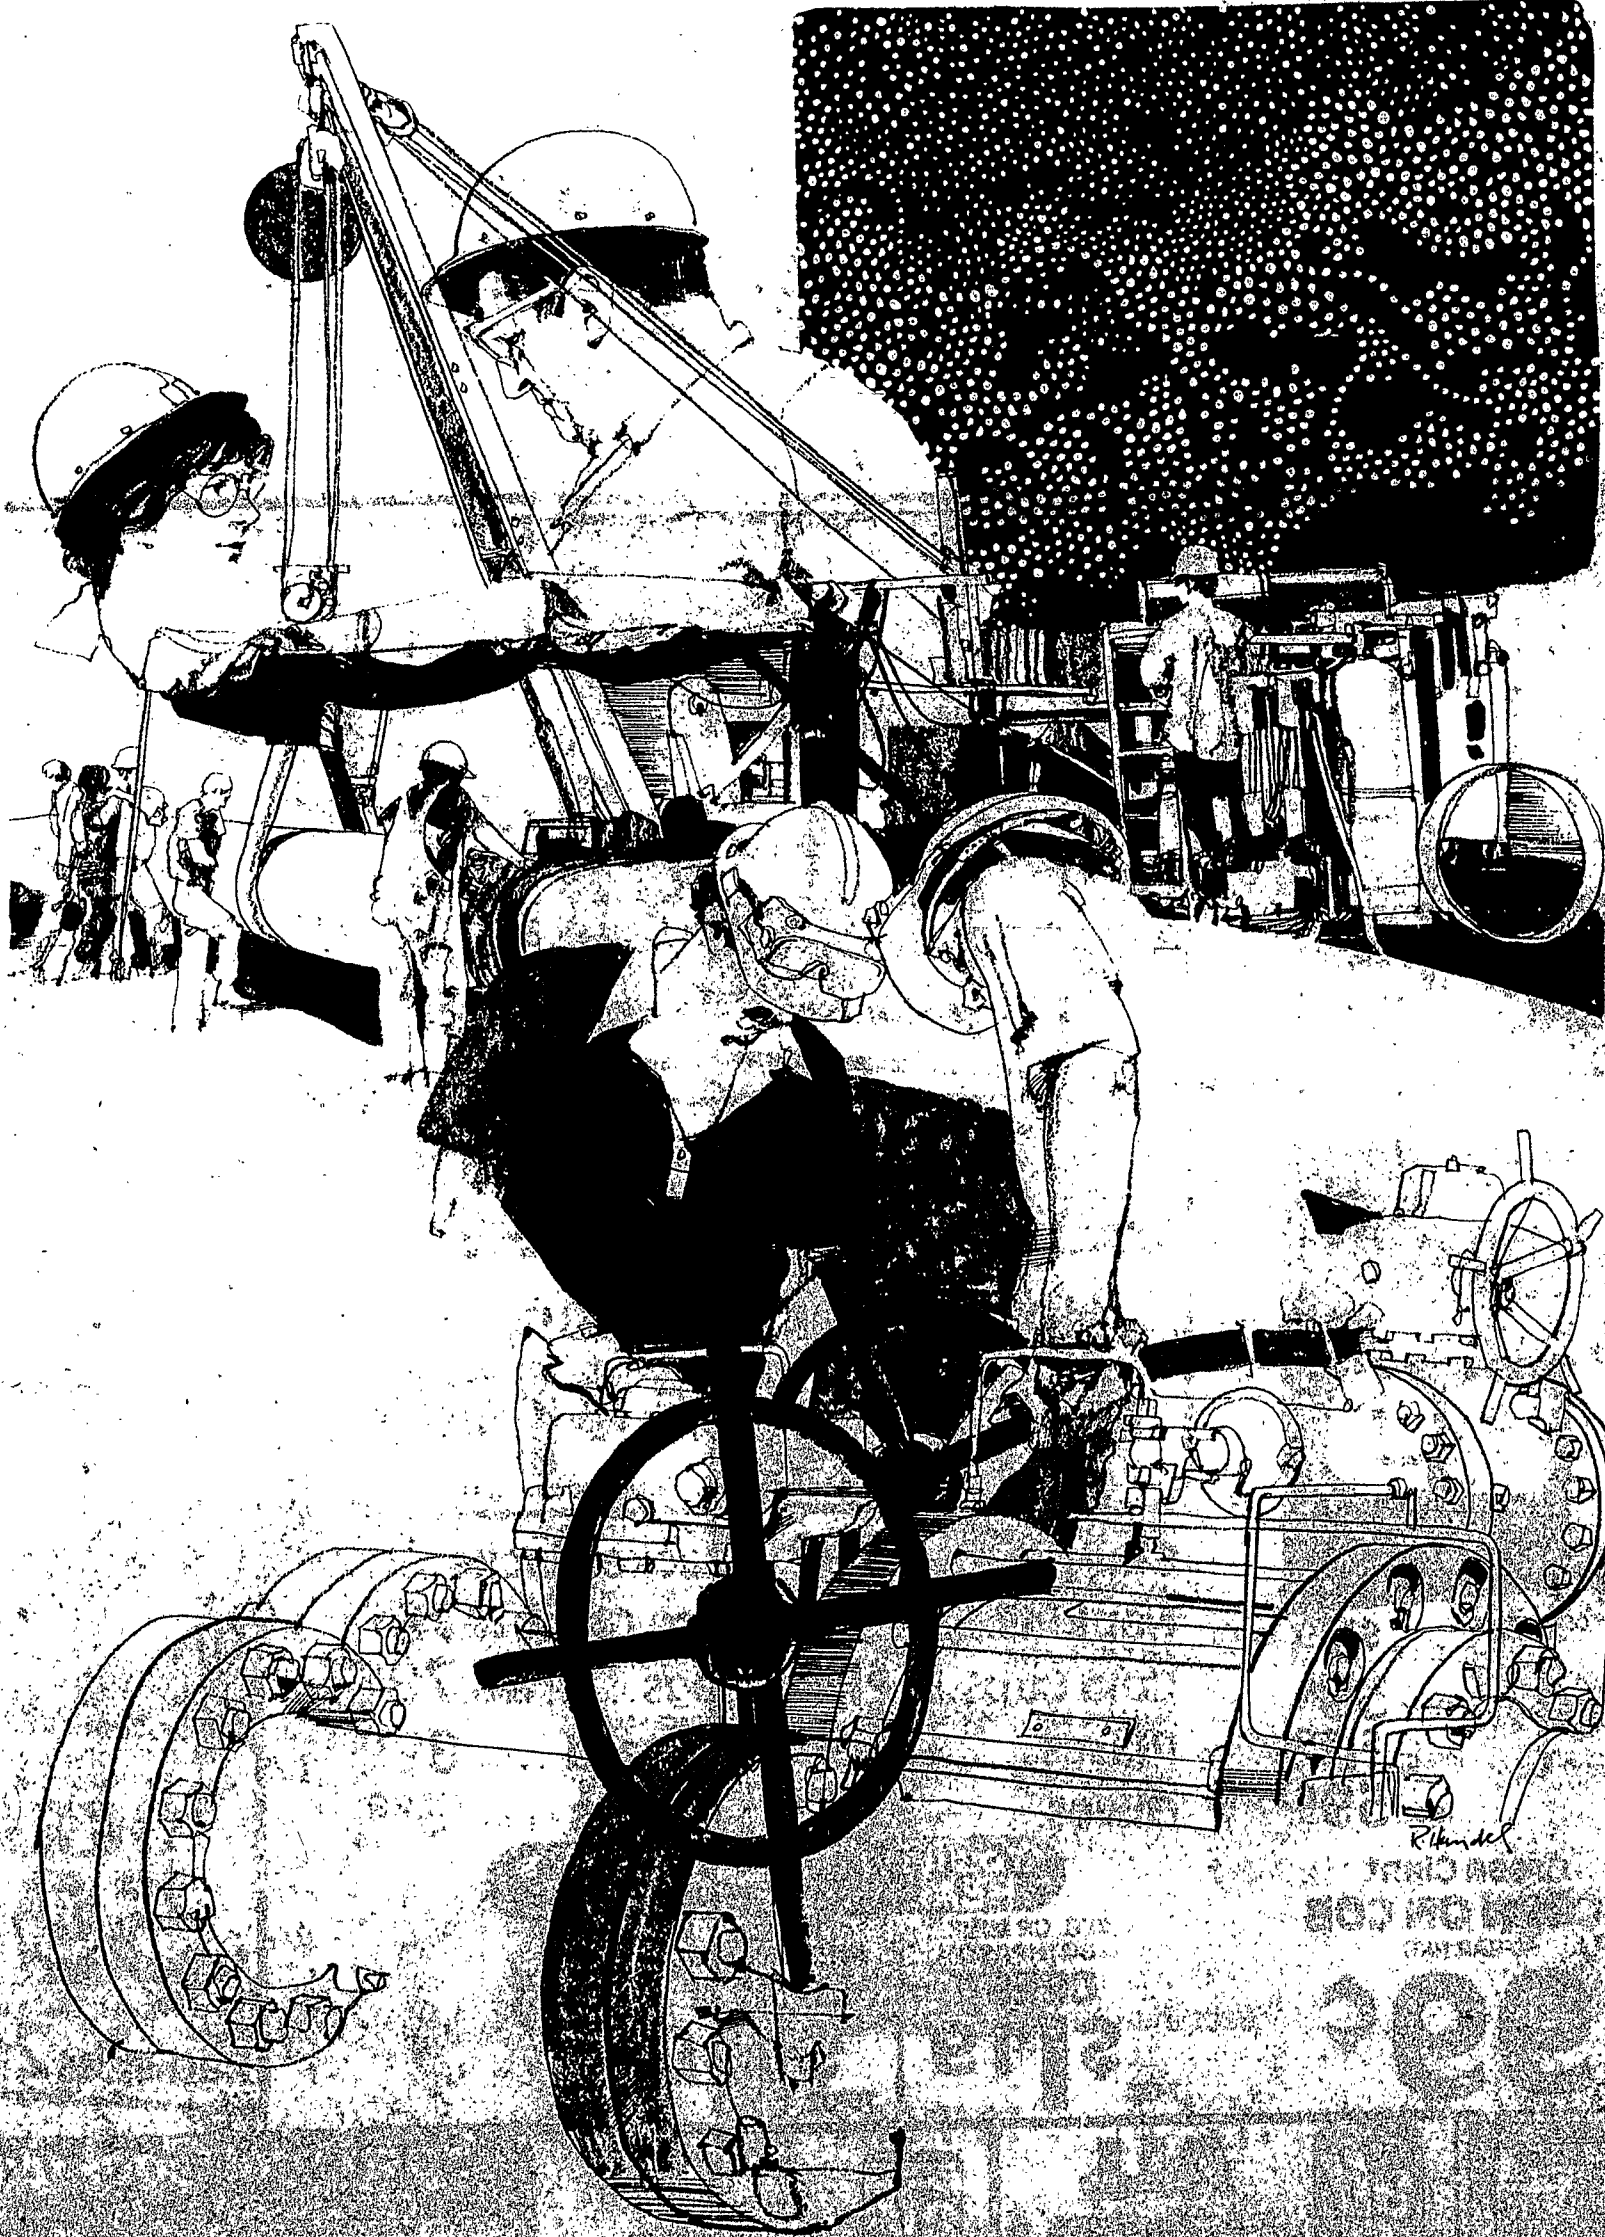

At United Gas we're working on projects to supplement our traditional sources of natural gas with Alaskan gas, Canadian and Mexican imports, liquefied natural gas (LNG) imports, synthetic natural gas (SNG), coalbed degasification, and geothermal/geopressured sources. In addition, we're working with customers to achieve efficient gas utilization.

Take Care Of Electric Blanket To Extend Life

MISSISSIPPI STATE — Electric blankets are an energy-saving way to stay warm, says Frances Fortenberry, Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service housing and equipment specialist.

Treat electric blankets properly, or they'll wear out before their time, says Miss Fortenberry. Keep them dry at all times, and don't bend or fold them unnecessarily. Folding and bending may eventually break the wires, she explains.

Miniature thermostats throughout the blanket keep it from becoming too warm. If, for some reason, the blanket does become too warm, these thermostats turn it off automatically. When the blanket is cool enough, the thermostats turn the heat back on. An automatic blanket won't be too warm unless you set the dial too high, she adds.

Don't confuse heating pads with automatic blankets, she cautions. A heating pad supplies intense heat to alleviate muscular aches and pains. A blanket supplies gentle warmth and maintains a comforting temperature despite changes in room temperature.

Pins shouldn't be put through a heating pad or an electric blanket, because they may short circuit the heating coils or break them.

TV Brief

FARM TOURS
"Farmweek," the television series for and about Mississippi farmers, visits several small farm conferences at 7:30 p.m. Monday, February 26, on Mississippi ETV. The conferences, which are being held throughout the state during February, are geared to help the small farmer improve his income, according to Bruce Johnson, host of the series. The conferences are sponsored by four state and federal agencies. Each Monday at 7:30 p.m., "Farmweek" takes its viewers to a region of Mississippi to feature an aspect of farming in the state. The series also provides the farmer and other Mississippians with current market and crop reports, farm news and weather forecasts. "Farmweek" is co-produced by the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service and Mississippi ETV.

Q. How real is the natural gas shortage? A. Don't be misled by the "gas glut" talk.

There is improvement in deliverability this year, but the decline in natural gas reserves is very real. So, don't be misled by the term "gas glut" because of the current deliverability picture.

United Gas, like other major interstate pipeline companies, probably will be able to deliver more gas to its customers this winter than it did last year. However, there is still a shortage of gas reserves for the future.

At United Gas we're working on projects to supplement our traditional sources of natural gas with Alaskan gas, Canadian and Mexican imports, liquefied natural gas (LNG) imports, synthetic natural gas (SNG), coalbed degasification, and geothermal/geopressured sources. In addition, we're working with customers to achieve efficient gas utilization.

Our people are dedicated to building a better energy future.
